First In-Person Annual Meeting Since 2019

For the past two years, United Power has hosted its Annual Meeting virtually due to the COVID-19 pandemic and to protect the health and safety of members and employees. As public health restrictions ease, the cooperative will offer members an opportunity to gather in person and hear from co-op leadership for the first time since 2019. The 2022 Annual Meeting will be hosted in a hybrid format on April 13, meaning members may also participate online via a livestream hosted on the cooperative's website.

All members are invited to attend the Annual Meeting to hear from United Power leadership about the exciting ways the cooperative has continued to serve members throughout the previous year. Despite navigating ongoing public safety restrictions from the pandemic, the cooperative managed contract negotiations with its wholesale power supplier while also improving system reliability and continuing to provide the same level of service its members have come to expect. Participating members will receive an attendance gift, and an opportunity to win one of several door prizes.

Voting in the annual director election also provides United Power members the unique ability to voice their thoughts on the cooperative's future. Each year, your votes determine who serves on the United Power Board of Directors. Your participation in the election is critical to helping the cooperative better serve you.

Five candidates are running for election to the Board of Directors. This year, one seat in the East, South, and West Districts is up for election. The director candidates are Steven "Steve" Douglas, Naptali A. Lucks, and Elizabeth "Beth" A. Martin in the East District; Keith Alquist in the South District; and Ursula J. Morgan in the West District.

The cooperative mails out director ballots in mid-March and encourages all members to vote and return their ballots prior to the deadline. This year, members can participate in the director election electronically through their online account. Voting online is a fast and secure way to submit your ballots and avoid delays in mail handling. Online and mail-in ballots must be received by noon on April 12, or members can vote in person on April 13 at the meeting. Although directors live in specific geographical districts, they represent all members and are therefore elected on an "at-large" basis. Please cast a vote for a director in each district regardless of where you live.

Attending the Meeting

The in-person meeting will be held at the Riverdale Regional Park & Fairgrounds on April 13. Registration opens at 4:30 p.m. and balloting closes at the beginning the official business meeting at 6:30 p.m. The virtual stream will begin at 6:30 p.m. To view the livestream, go to www.unitedpower.com/annual-meeting.

A Message from United Power's President & CEO

Mark A. Gabriel

President & Chief Executive Officer

Have Feedback For Us?

Submit your questions, comments, concerns, or general feedback at www.unitedpower.com/CEO.

Looking ahead while focusing on the present is a challenge in today's electric power industry. Whether it is changing regulations; the desire of more members to engage with us as their electric cooperative in new ways; the advancement of technologies; or simply the expectations of high quality, always on, reliable power, being prepared is key.

Thanks to the hard work of staff at United Power, supported by our Board of Directors, we have created "Our Cooperative Roadmap," or Roadmap, to document both where we are today and how we are looking toward the future. The Roadmap, found at www.unitedpower.com/roadmap, has four Guiding Principles: Reliability, Affordability, Flexibility, and Responsibility. Each of these principles embodies the elements most critical to us as we seek to prepare for the future while building and maintaining the important investments we have made on behalf of our members over the decades. These are the lenses through which we evaluate options such as reimagining our power supply, integrating new technologies, preparing for future markets, and supporting the needs of the workforce.

Reliability

Strive to deliver high-quality, uninterrupted service to our members through the design, operation, protection, and maintenance of a failure-resistant and resilient electric distribution system.

Affordability

Continually seek fair and equitable wholesale rates, manage distribution costs in a highly efficient manner, and responsibly allocate those costs across our membership with stable and transparent rate options.

Flexibility

Demonstrate maximum agility and adaptiveness through forward-looking plans; versatile, innovative programs and business models; and diverse power supply options as we respond to changes in our environment and the needs of our members and community.

Responsibility

Act honestly, ethically, sustainably, and in the best interest of our members and communities as we manage operations and secure resources.

The Roadmap defines the working plan priorities for your cooperative and aligns the work of employees at United Power. The document will ensure continuity in our thinking and guide us as we make important resource decisions.

The Roadmap also keeps us looking at the immediate opportunities and challenges we face. The criticality of electricity has never been more evident as a growing number of our members work from home. The advances of technology require high quality, reliable power. And, as our communities grow, so too do the demands for more power.

A good example in planning ahead and working for today lies in the investments your cooperative made in our fire mitigation plan. Several years ago, we began switching to covered cable in the mountains, undergrounded critical lines, and moved to an advanced breaker. While no plan can perfectly protect us from the unpredictability of wildfires, we were ready to respond during the recent events here in Colorado. Fortunately, our system was not impacted.

The same is true as we ready our technologies to accept more distributed energy resources, storage, and solar on our system while preparing for the advent of a power market here in the west.

We encourage members to read Our Cooperative Roadmap and engage in future discussions about it. The senior team and I welcome the opportunity to come and speak to community groups and will be posting several videos online that cover the Roadmap's key elements.

Our Cooperative Roadmap covers a wide range of areas – all designed with you, our member, in mind. Importantly, it helps define the cooperative's future and keeps us on track today. As always, I welcome your comments, questions, and feedback on any topic, including the Roadmap. Please contact me at www.unitedpower.com/CEO.

DIRECTOR CANDIDATE PROFILES

2022 Director Candidates

There are three director seats up for election this year. One position in the East, South, and West districts is up for a three-year term. Be sure to read about each of the candidates before casting your ballot.

District S (South)

Keith Alquist

District E (East)

Steven "Steve" Douglas
Naptali A. Lucks
Elizabeth "Beth" A. Martin

District W (West)

Ursula J. Morgan

United Power directors serve in geographic districts but are elected on an at-large basis. Please vote for one candidate in each director district.

SOUTH DISTRICT

The following statements are those of the candidates and have not been altered or verified by United Power.

Keith Alquist

Hi, I'm Keith Alquist and I am currently one of your directors from the South District. I have represented all of the members of United Power for the last four and a half years and I want to continue to represent you for this next term. These are exciting and challenging times but the electric distribution business is a serious business. Our expanding communities require and demand safe and reliable service at affordable rates. I ask for your support and vote to continue representing you, our member owners, for this next term.

I have attended every board meeting and regulatory meeting and I have put all of my energy into fulfilling my responsibility as a director to do my duty to represent you in the governance of United Power.

Recently, I completed my training in the Director Gold Program. I firmly believe in learning and keeping up-to-date in the electric distribution business. I previously completed the 15 training courses required for the Credentialed Cooperative Director Program and the Board Leadership Program.

I am a member of the National Society of Accountants for Cooperatives and have been so for 30 years. I have used this experience to be an active member on the board audit committee and I am currently the Board Treasurer.

My wife, Julie, and I have lived in Brighton for over 29 years and we raised our four children here. Previous to being semi-retired, I was the Vice President and CFO of American Pride Co-op for 20 years until it was merged into Agfinity Inc in 2012. I am an active member of the Rotary Club of Brighton and am involved in a number of projects helping the community. My favorite projects are the dictionary project for 900 third grade students and the U.S. Constitution project for almost 900 fifth grade students in Brighton and Henderson.

Many changes have been completed in the last few years which are positioning United Power to continue to serve its members to the highest level possible. AMI meters, solar farms, residential solar, net metering, electric vehicle charging stations and the Tesla battery project for peak shaving to help save members money are all great projects.

The world of generation is changing from carbon based to more renewable sources like solar, wind and hydro. So we must keep ahead of governmental mandates and keep up-to-date in using the changes in technology to best serve you, our member owners.

I want United Power to continue to be a strong and nationally respected leader among electric distribution cooperatives.

I respectfully ask for your vote.

Remember, it's all about your power.

National Work Zone Awareness Week

Recognized April 11-15, 2022

United Power would like to remind our members of the importance of staying aware when entering and exiting roadside work zone areas for both your safety and our crews' safety. Transportation accidents are one of the leading causes of on-the-job deaths nationwide.

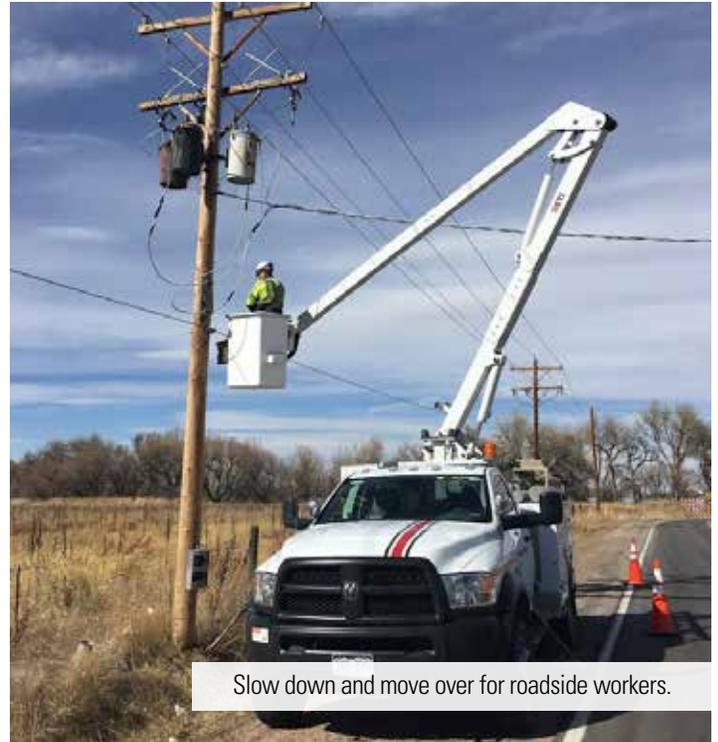

As an electric utility, our work is fundamentally different from most highway construction work zones. When United Power conducts roadside construction work, it usually involves small crews working for short periods of time when compared to major highway and road construction. This poses challenges to keeping our lineworkers safe.

Major traffic construction will warn drivers in advance with signs posted hundreds of feet or even miles prior to the beginning of work. However, because the nature of our work is different, our crews use different warning techniques when preparing for roadside work. Traffic cones are typically used to delineate our work, which are quicker and easier for our crews to haul and set up when work near roadways is required. Much of our electrical infrastructure is located in high traffic areas, such as shoulders and right-of-ways, intersections, and road medians.

To maintain high-powered electrical lines and equipment, our crews work in large vehicles, such as a bucket truck. When you see a United Power bucket truck located on a roadside, remember to look for signs and cones that it may be a work zone. Slow down and move over when possible to give our crews a wide enough path to continue working safely.

Please try to avoid distractions like cell phones or changing radio stations when entering a roadside work zone, and be prepared for the unexpected.

We thank you for helping keep our crews safe!

Slow down and move over for roadside workers.

We are Dedicated to Keeping the Lights On

Lineman Appreciation Day is Monday, April 18, 2022

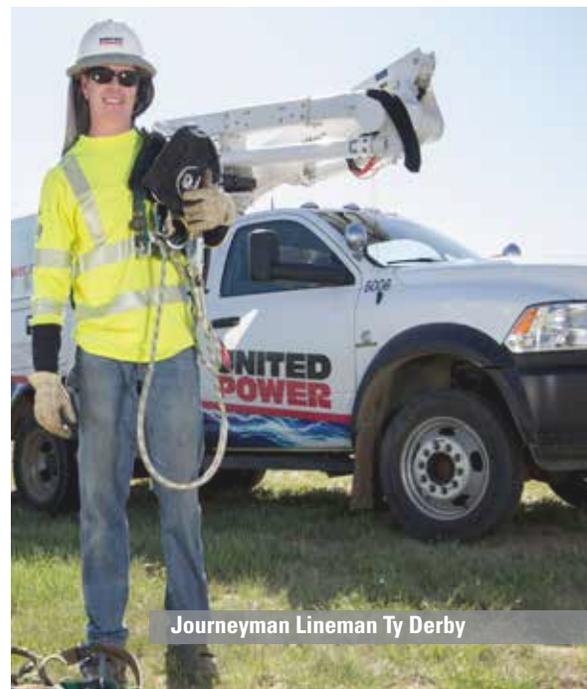

United Power exists for many reasons, but as your cooperative our priority is providing our members with safe and reliable power and keeping your lights on. Without the help of our skilled lineworkers, who work each day behind the scenes to improve our system and prevent outages before they happen, that would not be possible. On April 18, we will celebrate National Lineman Appreciation Day to recognize and honor our lineworkers for their hard work and dedication.

Being a lineworker along Colorado's notorious Front Range is not an easy task. Our lineworkers must be prepared to face daily situations that may be less than ideal, regularly tasked with resolving hazardous problems in unknown or dangerous conditions. Over the past few years, the cooperative has had to navigate difficult record-setting weather events, including devastating floods, paralyzing winter storms, and hurricane-force winds. Last year, a strong winter storm dumped nearly two feet of snow across parts of the service territory, and in December, strong storms blasted northern Colorado with wind speeds in excess of 115 miles per hour.

When severe weather hits our service territory, our lineworkers are ready to assess the situation and begin the process of restoring power as quickly and safely as possible. When the skies are clear and winds are calm, our lineworkers are monitoring our system and making improvements to prevent future outages, where possible.

Our lineworkers are on call 24 hours a day, ready to respond to any situation in any type of weather. Next time you lose power, rest assured a highly-trained United Power lineworker is on the way, dedicated to getting the lights back on.

Without our lineworkers, the power that makes our members' homes comfortable would not be possible. We invite our members to take a moment to thank our United Power lineworkers for the work they do. Use #ThankALineworker on social media to show your support, drop a kind note in the mail, or on go to our website at www.unitedpower.com/thank-a-lineworker.

Putting Down Roots in Carbon Valley

Round-Up Grant Helps Habitat for Humanity Provide Homes for Two Families

St. Vrain Habitat for Humanity presented two Carbon Valley families with keys to their new homes alongside friends, family, volunteers, and community organizations at a ribbon cutting in January. Among the organizations present at the event was United Power's Operation Round-Up Foundation.

Habitat for Humanity provides newly constructed homes to families who are positioned for home ownership but are unable to qualify for traditional financing. The organization builds homes from the ground up and sells them at cost to selected families thanks to support from community volunteers. Round-Up awarded Habitat for Humanity a $5,000 grant to help with home construction costs.

"Without the help of community partners like Round-Up, we wouldn't be able to do what we do for these families," said Rebecca Shannon, community engagement manager for St. Vrain Habitat for Humanity.

Round-Up is funded entirely by members who voluntarily "round up" their monthly statements to the next whole dollar. The average contribution is approximately $.50 per month. Those funds are then redistributed to nonprofits in various parts of the service territory to ensure as many members receive help as possible.

"We are proud to support community organizations meeting the needs of vulnerable members," said Joan Kniss, a Round-Up board member. "Habitat for Humanity has a strong track record of lifting people up and lets us see our grant dollars in action."

Home ownership allows families to put down roots and begin contributing to their local community, Shannon said. Homes are not only built to meet all safety requirements, but are also energy efficient, which lowers the cost of ownership. Selected families are required to demonstrate commitment to their new home by returning volunteer hours helping with the construction of their future homes. Having a hand in building your own home develops a sense of pride in it.

Habitat for Humanity breaks ground on a new home in Carbon Valley on March 7. To volunteer, visit www.stvrainhabitat.org.

More than 20% of United Power members voluntarily round up their bills. To enroll in Operation Round-Up, visit the website at www.unitedpower.com/round-up.

Steven "Steve" Douglas

I'm running for the United Power Board East District and would appreciate your vote. As an experienced Public Servant who has served on many professional boards and commissions, I am ready and prepared to lead with dedicated commitment to understanding and implementing ways to better serve the people of United Power. I would also bring diversity to the board as the first African American Director.

My wife and I have been proud members of the United Power Family for nearly 20 years. As a Councilman I was very actively engaged with United Power. That said, I already feel a strong connection and I understand how well United Power serves our community. Community and family mean a lot to me and I'm proud to say that I'm a family man, married with 5 awesome kids and 5 incredible grandkids!

Having served as a Councilman At-Large for the City of Commerce City for 2 terms, I know the importance of serving the public and working as a team-player. I promise to be a good steward for all of the members throughout United Power, both urban and rural.

As a United Power Board member, I will work to increase locally generated renewables. I will also seek different ways in which we can save on our energy costs by making solar, wind, hydro, and thermal energy affordable. Clean energy will be the heart and soul of our futures and I believe United Power should lead the way - always as an investment in the way we live as a community, both for today and for our future.

The future of energy is happening now and we need to take advantage of that fact. I believe the next energy solution will include super-capacitors which can support or replace substations giving communities a much needed new clean power supply which will also include relief during blackout conditions.

I would like to thank you for your support, and look forward to serving as your next United Power East District Director. Thanks again for your time!

Naptali A. Lucks

Hi, my name is Naptali Lucks. I have been a Colorado resident for almost 20 years, living in many parts of the metropolitan area over the years. I have a master's degree in counseling, bringing years of experience in human behavior and understanding, as well as vast interpersonal skills developed by an array of challenging situations. I was the executive director of Street's Hope, a residential rehabilitation program for victims of human trafficking.

I have been a caregiver, a teammate, mother, leader, a pacesetter, a businesswoman, and currently a real estate agent for EXIT Realty Cherry Creek.

My daughter's and I have enjoyed being a part of the community here in Brighton the past several years and may be observed frequently in the community enjoying the outdoors.

I approach this position for a director position with United Power as a community member who recognizes our communal interconnectedness and needs to further advance our technological scope for providing energy to the community. I have been very proud of the leadership's choices of United Power to leave dysfunctional associations and choose what is in the greater good of not only the members but what is most effective for the survival of our planet. Maintaining an environment that is conducive to human habitation by choosing energy methods that consider all relevant factors rather than the acquisition of wealth by a few. With my passion for sustaining a healthy planet, I decided that complaining about what is going on would not improve the situation, and to make an impact I needed to do something. Therefore, I am running for this position as a well-educated, insightful innovator who intends to help improve our quality of life by participating on the board of directors.

United Power is an important business that greatly impacts the world, and I am willing to learn and expand in any way necessary to help the global success of this business. As a director I would advocate for the members and work to maintain ethical business practices that are effective and fair to all. I bring spirit, passion and a new unique and diverse perspective that will make me and excellent co-collaborator to the team. I see it as an honor to serve our community by being on the board of directors.
